

A schematic diagram of a radiator. At the top is a horizontal rectangle with wavy ends, labeled 'hriadel'. Below it is a larger rectangle containing a series of vertical lines representing radiator fins. At the bottom of this rectangle are two gray rectangular blocks, one on each side, representing the fan blades. Below the entire assembly are two arrows pointing upwards towards the gray blocks. The left arrow is labeled 'lopatky ventilátora' and the right arrow is labeled 'skratovacie kruhy'.
